Maine, 1969. After losing her parents in a car accident, aspiring artist Annalisa Mancuso lives with her grandmother and their large Italian family in the stifling factory town of Payton Mills. Inspired by her mother, whose own artistic dreams disappeared in a damaged marriage, Annalisa is dedicated only to painting. Closed off to love, and driven as much by her innate talent as she is the disillusionment of her past, Annalisa just wants to come into her own. The first step is leaving Payton Mills and everything it represents. The next, the inspiring opportunities in the city of Portland and a thriving New England art scene where Annalisa hopes to find her voice. But she meets Thomas, an Ivy League student whose attentions--and troubled family--upend her pursuits in ways she never imagined possible. As their relationship deepens, Annalisa must balance her dreams against an unexpected love. Until the unraveling of an unforgivable lie. For Annalisa, opening herself up to life and to love is a risk. It might also be the chance she needs to finally become the person and the artist she's meant to be. A new edition of an unusual description of 17th-century New England flora and fauna, folklore, and the Indian and Puritan cultures of that time. In this first biography of Franz Johnston, the author describes the life, work, and times of this unjustly neglected but influential figure in Canadian art and culture. New Kindle Unlimited Adult Romance - part VI of the Bestselling Kindle Unlimited Romance series, the Ivy Series. Furious that Sophia would ignore his advice, Marc insists on being in the movie too. The movie company can hardly refuse Marc Blackwell - one of Hollywood's most respected stars, and a man who is known for being both sought-after and highly selective. At first, Sophia is angry that Marc is so controlling. But when she realises Marc will play the teacher to her student, she admits to being curious. Soon, obsession, love and desire become intertwined, as Marc and Sophia play out their forbidden romance - both on and off camera. READER REVIEWS FOR THE IVY LESSONS "I fell in love with Marc Blackwell. This is the ultimate teacher student romance ...""When will there be more from Marc and Sophia? LOVED this book!""Beautiful story of forbidden love between a teacher and student." BOOK EXTRACT The silver box glimmers from the mantelpiece. It's large and thick - the size of a heavy coffee-table book and just as heavy. I've been ignoring it for days now. You have to open it some time, says a little voice. I know. Through the farmhouse windows, I see rose buds on thorny stems. The grass is taller than it's been in a while, and pink and white blossom decorates the fruit trees. Spring. A time of new beginnings. I glance at Ivy, sleeping in her woven basket. She's getting too big for that basket now, but I like to have her with me. As close as possible, wherever I am. Sometimes, life feels so perfect that I can't believe I got so lucky. I'm married to one of Hollywood's greatest actors - my former teacher, and a man I am deeply, obsessively in love with. Marc Blackwell dotes on me, and is the perfect, protective father to our beautiful baby, Ivy. Our luxurious farmhouse is set on five acres of land, and surrounded by flowering, grassy gardens. Some of the bigger fruit trees will be perfect for a rope swing when Ivy grows up. And then of course, there are the horses for her to ride on. Security around the farmhouse is the best there is - no photographer or journalist can get near us. All in all, things should be amazing. And they are. Most of the time. But sometimes I feel like ... oh, it's silly. Everything is perfect. And yet still the silver parcel glimmers. The Christmas Season brings wonderful traditions and thus creates happy memories. The sharing of traditional Christmas carols is one such tradition. In Christmas Memories, Book 3, Melody Bober shares some of her favorite carols arranged in her signature style with lyrical melodies and lush harmonies.
